

Acadia Announces Professional Logging Contractors Dividend Valuations* for 2021, 2022 and 2023 Plan Years

Acadia's Professional Logging Contractors safety group, endorsed by the Professional Logging Contractors of the Northeast, provides three separate valuations for each plan year and is available to participating association members. These valuations result in a total dividend of $419,241 to qualifying members, with individual insured checks to be distributed through respective Acadia agents soon.

2021 Plan Year – Third of Three Adjustments

After completing the dividend calculation, the third and final adjustment of the 2021 plan year, Acadia has determined that the group did not qualify for a dividend due to the loss ratio. This is the final adjustment for this plan year.

2022 Plan Year – Second of Three Adjustments

After completing the dividend calculation for the second adjustment for the 2022 plan year, Acadia has determined that the group did not qualify for a dividend due to the loss ratio. The final adjustment will be calculated on September 30th, 2025.

2023 Plan Year – First of Three Adjustments

After completing the dividend calculation for the first adjustment of the 2023 plan year, Acadia has determined that a dividend of $419,241 will be paid to qualifying members.

Acadia has returned over $14,500,000 in dividends to qualifying members since the plan's inception.
